OPERATION ORLANDO POULTRY

This business is operating in gross violation of the USDA guidelines and the Humane Slaughter Act.

These violations include:

- Animals are not stunned by an appropriate device or rendered unconscious and insensible to pain, prior to the slaughter process, per the Humane Slaughter Act.
- Animals are inhumanely handled, and dragged
- Instead animals are conscious and aware as they are chained down and butchered
- Goats and Sheep have their throats slit with knives, slicing multiple times while awake and alert, cutting through the arteries and windpipe.
- On 14 separate occasions chickens and guinea hens were not stunned and had their throats slit and tossed into a bin to bleed out.
- False advertising/ misleading to the public.
- Meats sold without a known destination.

During this investigation, ARM witnessed and documented the inhumane handling, excessive force, and slaughter techniques that are causing unconscionable pain and suffering to the animals being butchered.

This is a gross violation of the USDA guidelines of the Humane Slaughter Act of the United States.

ARM witnessed and documented 16 felony acts of animal cruelty resulting in the death and witnessed multiple counts of selling unadulterated meat to consumers. ARM was also sold 2 live guinea hens a violation of the law.

ARM is requesting that the owners be arrested, the slaughterhouse be closed down, and all licenses pulled by the county, state, and federal agencies. Under the state of Florida statutes, any and all animals living in such conditions must be rescued and brought to safety.

The Animal Recovery Mission (ARM), is a vanguard investigative animal welfare organization that was developed in 2010 by Richard Couto, shortly after he was exposed to one of Miami's darkest and most brutal animal cruelty operations. Upon this discovery of illegal animal slaughter farms and the black market horse meat trade, Couto, also known as 'Kudo,' invoked his vision of exposing and implementing solutions for extreme criminal acts towards animals into reality and created an unstoppable team who are dedicated to our organizations cause.

ARM Investigations has been carefully constructed as a direct-action organization. We conduct innovative investigative tactics to gather compelling evidence. ARM collaborates with local law enforcement, State attorneys, environmental protection agencies and The Animal Legal Defense Fund to produce concrete evidence to put an end to criminal acts involving animal torture.

ARM has since become the foremost expert organization in illegal horse slaughter. We specialize in condemning illegal animal slaughter farms in the United States. Our investigations, however, are not limited to slaughter farms as we are also actively investigating the black market horse meat trade, bestiality, underground animal fighting rings, fox & coyote penning games, and bear bile farms, to name a few, as well as the preservation of Wild Mustangs.

Succeeding in our investigations and exposing the truth as well as the eradication of these illegal practices have produced life changing results and permanent solutions. ARM's goals and vision is to constantly strive to raise the bar for the welfare of animals and to prevent and reduce their pain, fear and suffering.

As an organization we strive to be the defending force for destitute animals and to make significant improvements in how they are treated by exposing the truth, implementing laws to protect and educating the public on these illegal and barbaric practices. ARM prides it self on taking up the challenges that no one else will.

Our mission is to be an uncompromising defending force for the welfare of animals, in addition to putting an end to and preventing pain, suffering and torture inflicted as a result of inhumane practices.

Disney delays moving jobs

Plan to reassign workers from California to other states pushed to 2010, says source

By Mike M...
 Staff Writer

Walt Disney World is not moving its jobs to other states as early as it had hoped, according to a source familiar with the company's plans. The source said that the company is now looking at moving jobs to other states in 2010, rather than the 2008 or 2009 that was initially planned.

Homes for sale jump by 44.2%

By Thomas H...
 Staff Writer

Home sales in the Orlando area jumped 44.2 percent in May from the same month last year, according to the Florida Realtors Association. The increase is the largest since the start of the recession in late 2007. The association said that the increase was due to a combination of factors, including a decline in inventory and a rise in the number of homes that are being sold.

Went there last week and it's under new management. The guy there was super kind. The place had changed a lot from previous time. It was organized and clean. I made my order and it was quick. I love fresh meat better than store bought. Thank You! I will continue to buy meat from here.

WARNING! THIS REVIEW IS NOT FOR THE FAINT OF HEART OR MEMBERS OF PETA! YOU HAVE BEEN WARNED!

Oh boy did I ever go to Orlando Live Poultry. This place is definitely something you don't forget. I came here the Saturday before Christmas because I had a live goose to slaughter. The farm I bought him from only sold them live so I had to pack the thing into the bed of my dad's truck and drive it over to the hotel to heaven for livestock.

We got there at around 11 o'clock and the place was packed. There wasn't anywhere to park on property so my dad dropped myself and the goose off at the front and he went to look for a place to park down the street. I stand there for a moment looking at the building in front of me. It's definitely not a 4 star hotel. Then I look down at its next guest to check in. This giant white goose with watery blue eyes, sitting in a crate, sulking. I'm pretty sure he knew what was coming. I pick it up and start to head inside. As I walk in a few ladies of different cultural backgrounds smiled at me with curiosity. They looked as though they wanted to say "are you lost, desire? Publix is right down the road you know." But I'm not sure they spoke English. To them this probably was public.

I get inside and I see a window with men grounded around it. I peek inside too and there is an assembly line of sorts with a table saw and two men in coats cutting chickens into sections. I take blue eyes, sitting in a crate, sulking. I'm pretty sure he knew what was coming. I pick it up and start to head inside. As I walk in a few ladies of different cultural backgrounds smiled at me with curiosity. They looked as though they wanted to say "are you lost, desire? Publix is right down the road you know." But I'm not sure they spoke English. To them this probably was publix.

I get inside and I see a window with men grounded around it. I peek inside too and there is an assembly line of sorts with a table saw and two men in coats cutting chickens into sections. I take that in for a moment then I put my goose down in the corner. A couple of people ask me if it was my pet, jokingly. I start to look for some kind of desk or register. I finally found a line to a small window, but it went around the corner to another window apparently. So I go through the door and see cage upon cage of every bird you can think of. And a line to a window where people seem to be paying. So I get in line and the guy in front of me asks "what's a nice girl like you doing in a place like this?" And I replied "I have a goose to kill". "Fair enough" he said, and turned back around.

On a dry erase board by the window there was a list of all kinds of animals from chickens to rabbits to sheep, and prices next to them. But I still didn't know how much it would cost to have the deed done. I get to the window and I tell the man I have a live goose and want it processed. He comes to take a look and another man drags the cage into the big room with all the other birds. Then he takes it out and off the goose went. Never to be seen again. He asked me if I wanted it whole and I said yes but I don't want guts or a head or anything. He said okay and told me it was $5. I paid him and he gave me a receipt with a number on it and told me to come back at 4. I was shocked to hear it would be over 4 hours until it was done but then I remembered how busy they were. But before we left my dad just had to show me something. We go to the other side of the building, and in an empty room there is nothing but blood on the floor, that and a goat's head. Just the head. I just rolled my eyes at my dad's big stupid grin. He may be outdoorsy but right now he was outdoorsy and 5 years old.

My dad picked up the goose because I had to go to work and when I got home there was indeed a goose in the fridge but it still had the head and the feet and everything else! So I got to deal with that in my own special way, which I will be posting a video on in case this happens to you. So overall it was an interesting experience going here but would I come back again? I guess we'll find out next Christmas.

828.24 Prohibited acts; exemption.—

- (1) No person shall kill an animal in any way except by an approved humane method.
- (2) No person shall shackle or hoist with intent to kill any animal prior to rendering the animal insensitive to pain.
- (3) Nothing in this section precludes the enforcement of s. 828.12 relating to cruelty to animals.

History.—s. 1, ch. 61-254; ss. 14, 35, ch. 69-106; s. 241, ch. 77-104; s. 39, ch. 2001-279; s. 2, ch. 2002-51.

828.125 Killing or aggravated abuse of horses or cattle; offenses; penalties.—Any other provisions of this chapter to the contrary notwithstanding:

(1) Any person who willfully and unlawfully, by any means whatsoever, kills, maims, mutilates or causes great bodily harm or permanent breeding disability to any animal of the genus Equus (horse) or any animal of any registered breed or recognized registered hybrid of the genus Bos (cattle) commits a felony of the second degree, punishable as provided by s. 775.082, s. 775.083, or s. 775.084, except that any person who commits a violation of this subsection shall be sentenced to a minimum mandatory fine of $3,500 and a minimum mandatory period of incarceration of 1 year.

(2) Any person who individually attempts or solicits, or jointly agrees, conspires, combines, or confederates with another person to commit, any act prohibited by subsection (1) and does an act in furtherance of said attempt, solicitation, or conspiracy shall be guilty of a felony of the second degree and is punishable as if the person or persons had actually committed such prohibited act as enumerated in subsection (1), notwithstanding any provisions found in s. 777.04. Nothing in this subsection shall be construed to prohibit separate convictions and sentences for a violation of this subsection and any violation of subsection (1).

(3) Any person who verbally or in writing threatens to commit any act prohibited by subsection (1), and has the apparent ability to carry out such threat and places the owner or custodian of said animal in fear that such an act as described in subsection (1) is about to take place shall be guilty of a felony of the third degree, punishable as provided by s. 775.082, s. 775.083 or s. 775.084.

(4) In addition to any other fines or penalties authorized by law, a person found guilty of violating any provision of subsection (1), subsection (2), or subsection (3) may be ordered by the court to make restitution to the aggrieved party in an amount not to exceed twice the gross fair market value of the said Equus or Bos killed or abused in an aggravated manner, or up to twice the gross loss caused, whichever is greater, plus attorney's fees and any and all related costs. Upon notice the court shall hold a hearing to determine the amount of fines, restitution, or costs to be imposed under this section, if not agreed upon by the parties.

(5) This section shall not be construed to abridge, impede, prohibit, or otherwise interfere in any way with the application, implementation, or conduct of recognized livestock husbandry practices or techniques by or at the direction of the owner of the livestock so husbanded; nor shall any person be held culpable for any act prohibited by this chapter which results from weather conditions or other acts of God, providing that the person is in compliance with recognized livestock husbandry practices.

828.12 Cruelty to animals.—

(1) A person who unnecessarily overloads, overdrives, torments, deprives of necessary sustenance or shelter, or unnecessarily mutilates, or kills any animal, or causes the same to be done, or carries in or upon any vehicle, or otherwise, any animal in a cruel or inhumane manner, commits animal cruelty, a misdemeanor of the first degree, punishable as provided in s. 775.082 or by a fine of not more than $5,000, or both.

(2) A person who intentionally commits an act to any animal, or a person who owns or has the custody or control of any animal and fails to act, which results in the cruel death, or excessive or repeated infliction of unnecessary pain or suffering, or causes the same to be done, commits aggravated animal cruelty, a felony of the third degree, punishable as provided in s. 775.082 or by a fine of not more than $10,000, or both.

(a) A person convicted of a violation of this subsection, where the finder of fact determines that the violation includes the knowing and intentional torture or torment of an animal that injures, mutilates, or kills the animal, shall be ordered to pay a minimum mandatory fine of $2,500 and undergo psychological counseling or complete an anger management treatment program.

(b) A person convicted of a second or subsequent violation of this subsection shall be required to pay a minimum mandatory fine of $5,000 and serve a minimum mandatory period of incarceration of 6 months. In addition, the person shall be released only upon expiration of sentence, is not eligible for parole, control release, or any form of early release, and must serve 100 percent of the court-imposed sentence. Any plea of nolo contendere shall be considered a conviction for purposes of this subsection.

(3) A person who commits multiple acts of animal cruelty or aggravated animal cruelty against an animal may be charged with a separate offense for each such act. A person who commits animal cruelty or aggravated animal cruelty against more than one animal may be charged with a separate offense for each animal such cruelty was committed upon.

(4) A veterinarian licensed to practice in the state shall be held harmless from either criminal or civil liability for any decisions made or services rendered under the provisions of this section. Such a veterinarian is, therefore, under this subsection, immune from a lawsuit for his or her part in an investigation of cruelty to animals.

(5) A person who intentionally trips, fells, ropes, or lassos the legs of a horse by any means for the purpose of entertainment or sport shall be guilty of a third degree felony, punishable as provided in s. 775.082, s. 775.083, or s. 775.084. As used in this subsection, “trip” means any act that consists of the use of any wire, pole, stick, rope, or other apparatus to cause a horse to fall or lose its balance, and “horse” means any animal of any registered breed of the genus Equus, or any recognized hybrid thereof. The provisions of this subsection shall not apply when tripping is used:

Humane Slaughter Act

From Wikipedia, the free encyclopedia

The Humane Slaughter Act, or the Humane Methods of Livestock Slaughter Act, (P.L. 85-765; 7 U.S.C. 1901 et seq.) is a United States federal law designed to decrease suffering of livestock during slaughter. It was approved on August 27, 1958.<sup>[1]</sup> Food Safety and Inspection Service inspectors at slaughtering plants are responsible for overseeing compliance, and have the authority to stop slaughter lines and order plant employees to take corrective actions. Although more than 168 million chickens (excluding broilers) and around 9 billion broiler chickens are killed for food in the United States yearly,<sup>[2]</sup> the Humane Slaughter Act specifically mentions only cattle, calves, horses, mules, sheep and swine.<sup>[3]</sup>

Following news reports in early 2002<sup>[citation needed]</sup> alleging significant non-compliance, FSIS assigned additional veterinarians to its district offices specifically to monitor humane slaughter and handling procedures and to report to headquarters on compliance. The 2002 farm bill requests an annual compliance report to Congress, and in the FY 2003 agricultural appropriations act, Congress designated $5 million of FSIS funding for hiring 50 additional compliance inspectors. Language in the FY 2004 consolidated appropriations act directs FSIS to continue fulfilling that mandate, and the FY2005 budget request calls for another $5 million to be allocated for enforcement activities. A January 2004 GAO report states that compliance problems persist (GAO-04-247). Earlier concerns about humane treatment of non-ambulatory (downer) cattle at slaughter houses became irrelevant when FSIS issued regulations in January 2004 (69 FR 1892) prohibiting them from being slaughtered and inspected for use as human food.<sup>[4]</sup>

Content of the Humane Slaughter Act

7 U.S.C.A. § 1902. Humane methods

No method of slaughtering or handling in connection with slaughtering shall be deemed to comply with the public policy of the United States unless it is humane. Either of the following two methods of slaughtering and handling are hereby found to be humane:

(a) in the case of cattle, calves, horses, mules, sheep, swine, and other livestock, all animals are rendered insensible to pain by a single blow or gunshot or an electrical, chemical or other means that is rapid and effective, before being shackled, hoisted, thrown, cast, or cut, or

(b) by slaughtering in accordance with the ritual requirements of the Islamic and Jewish faith or any other religious faith that prescribes a method of slaughter whereby the animal suffers loss of consciousness by anemia of the brain caused by the simultaneous and instantaneous severance of the carotid arteries with a sharp instrument and handling in connection with such slaughtering.

According to the law, animals should be stunned into unconsciousness prior to their slaughter to ensure a death with less suffering than in killing methods used earlier. The most common methods are electrocution and CO2 stunning for swine and captive bolt stunning for cattle, sheep, and goats. Frequent on-site monitoring is necessary, as is the employment of skilled and well-trained personnel. An animal is considered properly stunned when there is no "righting reflex"; that is, the animal must not try to stand up and right itself. Only then can it be considered fully unconscious. It can then proceed down the line, where slaughterhouse workers commence in cutting up its body.

The act contains a broad exemption for all animals slaughtered in accordance with religious law. This generally applies to animals killed for the kosher and Halal meat market. Jewish law (halakha) prescribes that the animal be fully sensible before slaughter, and while stunning is debatable in Islamic law (sharia), the latter too requires that the animal be killed through ritual slaughter and not due to stunning. Proponents of these slaughter methods claim that the severing of the animal's carotid arteries, jugular veins and vagus nerve renders the animal unconscious more effectively than most other methods.
